Re Bureau letter to Washington Field 2/21/67.

Investigation Torrington, Connecticut, reflects applicant's parents separated and father JOSEPH MC GOWAN has been unheard of since the thirties, at which time his credit was considered poor. During pretext telephonic interview with Mrs. JAMES WHEELER, East Bristol, Connecticut, sister of applicant's father, Mrs. WHEELER advised she last heard from him about ten years ago at which time he was hospitalized in New York City and had been living in New York. She did not know name of the hospital but stated he had had several lung operations and was seriously ill with tuberculosis. He would not indicate to her where he was staying. She assumed he was now deceased.

DETAILS:

EDUCATION

On March 6, 1967, [redacted] Registrar's Office, Connecticut College for Women, New London, Connecticut, advised SA [redacted] that PATRICIA MC GOWAN entered this college in September, 1944. She listed her date and place of birth as being on September 16, 1928, in Torrington, Connecticut. She attended the college for four years and graduated in June, 1948, with a B.A. degree. She resided on campus while at the college. She majored in Government.

b6
b7C

[redacted] noted that with the exception of one "B", the applicant was a straight "A" student while at this college. She described the applicant as being one of the most outstanding students to have attended this college. She said the applicant received various honors at Connecticut College and was elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa, a national honorary society. She recommended the applicant.

b6
b7C

On March 6, 1967, [redacted] Placement Office, Connecticut College for Women, New London, made available to SA [redacted] records of her office which showed that the applicant listed her mother, Mrs. MARGARET MC GOWAN as her parent. She noted that her father was born in Thomaston, Connecticut, and that he attended two years of high school. She did not list an occupation for her father but did indicate on a form that he was living. She indicated that her mother was born in Torrington, Connecticut, and that she had attended high school for three years. She was employed as an office clerk.

b6
b7C

As previously indicated, the applicant achieved high honors while attending this college and in a resume prepared in connection with her candidacy for Phi Beta Kappa, it was noted that she had performed some volunteer work at the Seaside Sanatorium (Waterford, Connecticut). In the scholastic year 1947-1948, the applicant was Chairman of Administration for the Russian Club. The applicant indicated the following summer employment:

NH 77-5104

1945: Factory bench work, Torrington Company, Standard Plant, Torrington, Connecticut

1946: Mail clerk, and needle sorting, Torrington Company, Excelsior Plant, Torrington, Connecticut

1947: Work and study at Greenbelt Consumer Services, Inc., Greenbelt, Maryland

During her attendance at this college applicant received $4,800 in scholarship funds. In February, 1948, she was awarded the Pepsi Cola three-year scholarship for study at any graduate school which included her complete tuition and $750.00 a year for other expenses. She was listed as being first in her class of 188 during the school year 1947-1948.

The file concerning the applicant included written comments made by certain instructors as of 1948.

[redacted], noted that [redacted] the applicant Labor Economics and considered her to be "one of the most able students in the course at the present time". He recommended the applicant highly.

b6
b7C

[redacted] in Government, wrote that she considered the applicant to be "unusually well-integrated, with a combination of qualities which should make her an asset to any employer..... She has an attractive, outgoing personality, and it seems to me that she would fit well in to any organization".

b6
b7C

[redacted] Department of Government, wrote, "I cannot state too strongly my sense that Miss MC GOWAN is a young woman of the highest intellectual ability and with equally exceptional qualities of character and personality....There is no doubt that Miss MC GOWAN is exceptionally gifted. I consider her the best student I have ever taught,...."

b6
b7C

"I have the highest regard for her integrity. She is always pleasant to deal with, always courteous, and generous-spirited. She is considerate of others, able in social relations, interested in people, noticed for her wit, something of a favorite in her dormitory, and well adjusted in her relations with others."

An attempt was made to personally interview [redacted], who is still on the college staff, on March 6, 1967, with negative results.

b6
b7C

On February 23, 1967, [redacted] Yale University Law School, New Haven, Connecticut, stated their records reflect applicant attended Yale Law School from October 5, 1948, to June 11, 1951, when she graduated with an LL.B degree. The records further reflected that the applicant was in the top 10 percent of her class and received the Order of the Coif. [redacted] advised that there is no indication of any disciplinary action having been taken against the applicant.

b6
b7C

On March 3, 1967, [redacted] Yale University, Law School, advised that he recalled the applicant personally. He stated she was a very able student who ranked near the top of her class. He advised that he knew of nothing of an adverse nature regarding the applicant and to his knowledge she was a person of excellent character and associates and a loyal American citizen. [redacted] stated he was also acquainted with the applicant's husband and knew nothing of a derogatory nature concerning him. He advised he would highly recommend the applicant for a position with the United States government.

b6
b7C

On March 3, 1967, [redacted] Yale University, Law School, advised that he recalled the applicant as being a brilliant student who always did excellent work. [redacted] stated he was also acquainted with the applicant's husband and that he has an excellent reputation. He advised that there could be no question

b6
b7C

NH 77-5104

concerning the applicant's character, associates or loyalty to the United States and he would highly recommend the applicant for a position of trust and confidence with the United States government.

EMPLOYMENT

On February 27, 1967, [redacted] clerk, United States District Court, New Haven, Connecticut, advised that a review of his records failed to reflect the applicant was ever listed on his payroll. [redacted] stated, however, that inasmuch as the applicant was employed by the Second Circuit United States Court, she would probably have worked out of New York City. [redacted] stated he recalled the applicant slightly, and that it was his opinion that she had worked as a law clerk for the late Judge FRANK.

b6
b7C

On March 3, 1967, [redacted] Torrington Company, Torrington, Connecticut, advised their records reflect that PATRICIA A. MC GOWAN, date of birth September 16, 1928, at Torrington, Connecticut, was employed from June 11, 1945 to August 8, 1945 on a summer job and left to return to school. She was re-hired on June 17, 1946, and left on September 6, 1946 to return to school. He advised her services were satisfactory and she would be eligible for re-hire.

b6
b7C

MISCELLANEOUS

The following investigation was conducted by SA [redacted]

b6
b7C

The 1965 Torrington City Directory lists Mrs. MARGARET M. MC GOWAN as the widow of JOSEPH MC GOWAN, residing at 200 Barton Street, Torrington. She is employed as a clerk with the Torrington Company.

[redacted] Personnel Department, The Torrington Company, on February 27, 1967, advised Mrs. MARGARET MC GOWAN is employed in the Cost Department with this firm and has been so employed for many years.

b6
b7C

NH 77-5104

The records reflect that she voluntarily left the employ of this firm in 1928 in order to get married, and she returned as an employee in 1932. She indicated ~~she~~ was separated from her husband. [redacted] stated that MARGARET MC GOWAN has always been regarded as a person of excellent reputation and a very reliable employee.

b6
b7C

She stated she understood that the applicant graduated from high school at the head of her class and subsequently attended Connecticut College for Women in New London, Connecticut. The applicant and her mother have always been regarded as persons of high caliber, deeply religious and loyal American citizens.

[redacted] Clerk, Town Clerk's Office, City Hall, Torrington, Connecticut, on February 27, 1967, advised marriage records reflect JOSEPH F. MC GOWAN employed as a machine operator, Thomaston, Connecticut, and born in Thomaston, married MARGARET M. O'KEEFE, who was born in Torrington, Connecticut, and living at 35 George Street, Torrington. The marriage was performed on November 23, 1927. [redacted] advised death records were checked pertaining to JOSEPH F. MC GOWAN and no record was found.

b6
b7C

[redacted], Town Hall, Thomaston, on February 28, 1967, advised birth records reflect JOSEPH FRANCIS MC GOWAN was born at Thomaston on Jan 7, 1901. His parents are listed as JOHN J. MC GOWAN and MARIA MONAHAN. [redacted] stated that she vaguely remembers JOSEPH MC GOWAN, but that this individual has not been heard from in over twenty years. She mentioned that EUGENE MC GOWAN, a brother of JOSEPH, died in 1945, and she recalled one of his relatives was a Mrs. JAMES WHEELER, a sister living in Bristol, Connecticut.

b6
b7C

Mrs. JAMES WHEELER, East Bristol, Connecticut, advised on February 28, 1967, that she is the sister of JOSEPH FRANCIS MC GOWAN and that she last heard from him approximately ten years ago, at which time he indicated he had been living in New York City. Mrs. WHEELER went on state that JOSEPH MC GOWAN had had several lung operations and had also been hospitalized for prolonged periods for tuberculosis. She indicated he had been ill when she last heard from him, and in view of his past illness, his age, and the fact that she had subsequently heard nothing more from him, she assumed he has passed away.

CREDIT and ARREST

[redacted] Credit Bureau of Litchfield County, Torrington, Connecticut, on February 27, 1967, advised SA [redacted] records contain no information pertaining to the applicant.

b6
b7C

The records reflect that MARGARET MC GOWAN has been on file since April 1939. Her residence is listed as 200 Barton Street, Torrington, Connecticut. She previously resided at 35 George Street. She is employed with the Torrington Company, Torrington, Connecticut, and is the widow of JOSEPH. There is nothing on file pertaining to JOSEPH MC GOWAN since 1939, at which time his trade was considered poor, and he was not considered too reliable an individual.

Officer [redacted] Thomaston, Conn., Police Dept., on February 28, 1967, advised SA [redacted] records contain no information identifiable with JOSEPH FRANCIS MC GOWAN. Officer [redacted] stated he vaguely remembers this individual being around Thomaston in the early 1930s, and that he was "in trouble frequently" because he was considered to be "a scraper" and was addicted to drinks. Officer [redacted] stated that he has not seen or heard of JOSEPH MC GOWAN for many years.

ROBERT L. WALD Summary

Captioned individual has never been the subject of an FBI investigation. However, his wife, Patricia McGowan Wald, was the subject of a background-type inquiry conducted by the FBI in 1967 which was favorable concerning her. However, checks with appropriate police agencies concerning her and her husband disclosed that Robert L. Wald was charged with a speeding violation on March 1, 1954, by the United States Park Police for which he forfeited $10 collateral. The Montgomery County, Maryland, Police Department indicated that Robert L. Wald was charged with violating a red light signal on January 27, 1961, for which he forfeited collateral of $11.45. Alexandria, Virginia, Police Department records indicated that Robert L. Wald was charged with speeding on February 6, 1957, for which he paid a fine of $15.

Records of the Virginia Beach, Virginia, Police Department revealed that Robert L. Wald received a speeding citation on June 12, 1953, the prosecution of which was subsequently dismissed.

No additional pertinent information was disclosed during the above inquiry and our files contain no additional pertinent information concerning Mr. Wald.

The fingerprint files of the Identification Division of the FBI contain no arrest data identifiable with captioned individual based upon background information submitted in connection with this name check request.

NOTE: Per request of Mrs. Mildred Stegall, White House Staff.

The Deputy Attorney General's Office has today requested that a prior investigation of captioned applicant conducted in March, 1967, be brought up to date. She is now a candidate for the position of Judge, District of Columbia Court of General Sessions, Domestic Relations Branch. Applicant has been employed part-time as an attorney in the Office of Criminal Justice, Department of Justice, since January, 1967. Applicant is 39 years old.

Our prior investigation was favorable and disclosed applicant received her Bachelor of Arts degree in 1948 from the Connecticut College for Women where she became a member of Phi Beta Kappa. She received her law degree from Yale Law School in 1951 and was admitted to the District of Columbia Bar 10/6/52. Applicant financed her education through part-time employments and scholarships. Her father deserted their home over 20 years ago. Applicant worked as a law clerk in New York and Connecticut and was employed by the law firm of Arnold and Porter in Washington during 1952 and 1953. She was a housewife from 1953 to 1963 and during this period had five children. She did legal research for the authors of two books and was also herself the author of two books entitled "Bail in the United States" and "Law and Poverty." She was an administrative officer of the President's Commission on Crime in the District of Columbia from July, 1965, to December, 1966. She was also a consultant to the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and the Administration of Justice. She was associated with the National Conference on Bail and Criminal Justice in 1964 and the National Conference on Law and Poverty. She received a grant from the Vera Foundation in New York City to write her book on "Bail in the United States." Her husband is an attorney with a Washington law firm. Persons interviewed described her as having a brilliant mind, as being competent in the legal field, and a sensible person who is of excellent moral character. Her associates, reputation, and loyalty were not questioned.

Memorandum to Mr. Gale
Re: Patricia McGowan Wald

Bureau files disclose Mrs. Wald addressed the U.S. Attorneys' Conference in Washington in July, 1964, during which she urged the greater use by U.S. Attorneys of the summons instead of a warrant of arrest for appearance at preliminary hearings or arraignments. The Department asked if the expansion of the summons program would raise any problem in respect to the Bureau's work. The Department was advised of the potential danger of the use of the summons in lieu of an arrest warrant and was told the summons should only be used in exceptional situations.

ACTION:

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS,
Synopsis: DOMESTIC RELATIONS BRANCH

[REDACTED] Personnel Department, The Torrington Company, Torrington, Conn., advised applicant's mother resides Torrington, Conn., and enjoys sound reputation. Arrest record Torrington, Conn., checked and no record found. Records New Haven County Superior Court Clerk's Office, New Haven, Conn., do not reflect applicant ever admitted to practice in State of Conn. [REDACTED] Conn. Bar Association, Hartford, Conn., advised her files does not reflect applicant is now or ever has been a member of the Connecticut Bar Association. Mrs. JAMES WHEELER and Mrs. RICHARD MARKS, sisters of applicant's father, Stratford, Conn., believe applicant's father is dead.

- RUC -

DETAILS:

[REDACTED] Personnel Department, The Torrington Company, Torrington, Connecticut, on November 20, 1967, advised the applicant's mother Mrs. MARGARET MC GOWAN is currently employed with this firm and resides at 200 Barton Street, Torrington, Connecticut. She enjoys an excellent reputation.

b6
b7C

NH 77-5104

Lieutenant [redacted] Torrington Police Department, Torrington, Connecticut, on November 20, 1967, advised records of this department contain no information identifiable with applicant's mother.

b6
b7C

On November 17, 1967, [redacted] New Haven County Superior Court Clerk's Office, New Haven, Connecticut, advised SA [redacted] that the records of that office do not reflect that the applicant was ever admitted to practice at the Bar in the State of Connecticut nor is there any record of her ever having taken the Connecticut Bar.

b6
b7C

[redacted] Connecticut Bar Association, 15 Lewis Street, Hartford, Connecticut, advised SA [redacted] on November 20, 1967, that her file does not reflect that WALD is now or ever has been a member of the Connecticut Bar Association.

b6
b7C

[redacted] stated that this Association is a voluntary thing and that a person does not have to be a member to practice law in Connecticut. This has nothing to do with qualifications of a person. The only requirement for membership is that one has passed the Bar exams and is admitted to practice in Connecticut.

b6
b7C

Mrs. JAMES (MARY) WHEELER, 89 Pine Street, Bristol, Connecticut, on November 20, 1967, advised SA [redacted] that she is the sister of applicant's father, JOSEPH MC GOWAN. She stated she last saw him in 1945 when he was a patient with tuberculosis at Grasslands Hospital, White Plains, New York. She stated that the last she heard of him was many years ago when she believed he was residing some place in New York City. She stated that because of his ill health and the fact she has not heard of his whereabouts for many years, she assumes he has died.

b6
b7C

NH 77-5104

She stated she has a sister, Mrs. RICHARD (HELEN) MARKS, 1080 Stratford Avenue, Stratford, Connecticut. She stated she does not believe this sister has any more information concerning applicant's father than she but thought she should be interviewed.

On November 21, 1967, Mrs. RICHARD (HELEN) MARKS, Apartment B-4, 1180 Stratford Avenue, Stratford, Connecticut, advised SA [REDACTED] that JOSEPH MC GOWAN is her brother and the applicant's father. She last saw applicant's father in 1945 when he visited her in Bridgeport, Connecticut. MC GOWAN was then working and living in New York City. He always sent her Christmas cards until eight or nine years ago. The envelopes were postmarked New York City but bore no return address. She has had no word from MC GOWAN since that time and believes he is dead.

Interviews With Local Judges

On November 20, 1967 [redacted]

b6
b7C

[redacted] advised SA [redacted] that WALD had been a member of the 27th Annual Judicial Conference held in 1966 but did not serve on any committees and merely attended meetings for her own information. [redacted] said that he had met WALD on several occasions but did not know her well enough to comment regarding her. He stated that he knew her husband only by reputation. Wald is a judge 12

On November 20, 1967 [redacted]

b6
b7C

[redacted] advised SA WHAKRY He had served on the Staff of the President's Commission on Crime in the District of Columbia in which WALD had taken a leading role. He stated that the chapter on the Juvenile Court was almost entirely researched and written by WALD and that she had collaborated on many other aspects of the report. [redacted] stated that the work accomplished by WALD was extremely competent and able. [redacted] stated that WALD has also been a member of the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and the Administration of Justice as well as the National Conference on Bail and Criminal Justice and the National Conference on Law and Poverty. [redacted] stated that he had met with WALD on several occasions in her capacity on each of these commissions and conferences and that he considered her an extremely intelligent woman. He stated that to his knowledge she has had little or no trial experience but that she is extremely knowledgeable in the law and by temperament and personality has all of the attributes necessary to be a judge. [redacted] stated that were WALD to be appointed to the Domestic Relations Branch of the Court of General Sessions, her only problem would be in learning the procedural moves necessary to conduct court, however, because of her intelligence, she would be able to master these techniques in a very short time.

[] stated that to the best of his knowledge WALD has never espoused any ideas or ideologies which in any way gave him the feeling that she would not be completely unbiased and fair in her judgments. [] stated he considered WALD a woman of excellent character and reputation and he had no reason to question her associates, conduct or loyalty to the United States. He knew her husband only by reputation as a very successful lawyer in this area. [] added he could recommend no one else who might know WALD with the exception of [] highly recommended WALD for a position of trust and confidence with the government.

b6
b7c

On November 20, 1967 []

b6
b7c

[] advised SA [] that he had worked very closely with WALD when she was a member of the President's Commission on Crime in the District of Columbia and when she was active in the National Conference on Bail and Criminal Justice. He has a very great interest in these problems and had dinner with WALD and her husband on many occasions. In addition, he attended many professional meetings with her.

[] described WALD as one of the brightest women lawyers he has ever known who possesses a delightful personality and disposition. WALD is very much a lady at all times and is very concerned with the disadvantaged. She is an understanding woman who is able by virtue of her personality and persuasiveness to obtain cooperation from almost any person with whom she has contact. [] stated that while he believes that WALD has had no trial experience she is intelligent enough and interested enough so that were she appointed to a position with the Domestic Relations Branch of the Court of General Sessions she would quickly learn the necessary court procedures to properly discharge her obligations. [] stated that in his opinion WALD would be a superb choice for the Domestic Relations Branch and eventually would be a wonderful asset to the court.

[] stated that Mr. WALD is an extremely successful lawyer in this area and that he has met him on several occasions. [] stated that WALD has several children but did not know their names or ages. [] vouched for the character, reputation, associates, conduct and loyalty of both Mr. and Mrs. WALD and highly recommended Mrs. WALD for a position of trust and confidence with the government.

b6
b7C

On November 20, 1967 []

b6
b7C

[] advised SA [] he knew WALD only by reputation and did not know her personally in any way and could not comment regarding her. He stated he also knew her husband by reputation only. [] stated he has never known WALD to appear before the bench in the United States District Court and knew of no other judges who might know her.

On November 20, 1967 []

b6
b7C

[] advised SA [] that he was no relation to Mrs. WALD, but knew her very well as he. []

[] He had several conferences with WALD when she was a member of the National Conference on Bail and Criminal Justice and had discussed with her the report of the President's Commission on Crime in the District of Columbia and in particular her chapter on the Juvenile Court. [] stated he found WALD to be highly intelligent, very capable and exceedingly effective. She is a lady in every respect and has a very agreeable personality which helps her a great deal in obtaining others to see her viewpoint. [] stated that while WALD has had little or no trial practice he feels that she is close enough to the procedures of the courts so that were she to be appointed to the Domestic Relations Branch of the Court of General Sessions she would certainly operate in an acceptable manner in an extremely short time. [] stated that he felt her choice for a position with the Domestic Relations Branch is an excellent choice and he felt the court would profit thereby. [] stated he also knows Mr. WALD as an extremely successful lawyer in this area and a man who has an excellent reputation. [] vouched for the character, reputation, associates, conduct and loyalty of both and highly recommended Mrs. WALD for a position of trust and confidence with the government.

b6
b7C

On November 20, 1967 []

b6
b7C

[] advised SA [] that he has known WALD through her participation on the two President's Commissions and the two national conferences in which she has been very active. [] stated that WALD impresses him as being a very steady and sensible woman who has a unique combination of technical background, a wonderful personality and an innate ability to gain the confidence of others so that they will accept her suggestions. [] stated that were she to be appointed as a judge in the Domestic Relations Branch of the Court of General Sessions she would be exceedingly successful. [] stated that while she has no trial experience, she is intelligent enough to quickly obtain the necessary information to conduct herself in a proper manner. [] stated that one of the things he feels would be definitely in her favor is the fact that she is a married woman with several children and has a far greater ability to deal with and understand domestic problems of other individuals than any spinster no matter how well qualified the latter might be. [] vouched for the character, reputation, associates, conduct and loyalty of both Mr. and Mrs. WALD and highly recommended Mrs. WALD for a position of trust and confidence with the government. [] stated he knew of no other judges, with the exception of [] who might know WALD.

[redacted] advised SA [redacted] the applicant's name is not familiar to him and he did not know whether she had an active law practice in the Washington area. He was not acquainted with the applicant's husband, ROBERT L. WALD, nor could he comment on the applicant's prior legal experience. He stated her name has not come before the Judicial Selection Committee and he has had no occasion to make any inquiry concerning her.

[redacted] advised that his law partner, [redacted] is currently out of town. [redacted] stated he did not believe that [redacted] would have any knowledge of the applicant.

[redacted] advised SA [redacted] on November 21, 1967 he was associated with the applicant for approximately 1 1/2 years on the President's Commission on Crime in the District of Columbia. He stated the applicant was a valuable asset to the Commission because of her knowledge of various aspects of criminology and sociology. He considers her a brilliant and accomplished person but said she has not had extensive experience in a law practice. She is married to a prominent attorney and they have 5 children residing with the family. [redacted] stated the applicant is knowledgeable in the field of bail reform and actively participated in the drafting of a recent bail reform act. The applicant is interested in the advancement of civil rights and is not known to be prejudiced in her attitudes toward racial, religious or cultural groups. The applicant has a good reputation and associates with persons of high character and integrity. [redacted] stated he does not feel he has any basis on which to comment on the applicant's temperament for a judicial position. He had no reason to question her loyalty to the United States and considers her to be of unquestionable integrity and professional ethics. He further stated the applicant is an attractive person of pleasing personality.

[REDACTED] advised SA [REDACTED] he does not know the applicant or her husband socially, however, is familiar with her recent work in connection with the President's Commission on Crime and the National Conference on Bail and Criminal Justice. He believes the applicant has not actively practiced law in the Washington, D. C. area and to his knowledge is not well known among judges and lawyers in the District. [REDACTED] stated the applicant is intelligent and well trained in the law. Her husband is a practicing attorney in Washington. It was his opinion that the studies which resulted from the President's Commission on Crime and the National Conference on Bail and Criminal Justice, in which the applicant was active, reflected a lenient attitude toward criminals. He noted she has been vigorously involved in bail reform which might indicate a familiar "soft approach" toward criminal justice. [REDACTED] advised he knew nothing which might reflect adversely on the applicant's personal character. He did not believe she belongs to any socially prejudiced groups or organization and would have a realistic attitude in keeping with the current trends in the field of civil rights. He had no reason to question her temperament for a judicial position, however, felt he had no basis on which to comment further in this regard. [REDACTED] added he had no reason to question the applicant's loyalty to the United States and his only reservation in recommending her for a judicial position would be her limited practical experience as a trial attorney and her possible tendency toward leniency in criminal justice.

On November 21, 1967 SA [redacted] interviewed [redacted]

b6
b7C

[redacted] advised he is not personally acquainted with the applicant or her husband. He knows of her only in connection with her recent work on the President's Commission on Crime in the District of Columbia. He has only had occasion to observe that she is a pleasant, attractive woman. To his knowledge, she has not been active in the practice of law and for this reason he did not feel she would be qualified for a judicial position. [redacted] further noted that he is opposed to the appointment of any judge in the local courts who resides outside of the District of Columbia. He has never heard any criticism of the applicant's personal character, reputation or associates. He had no reason to question her loyalty to the United States and had no basis on which to comment on her political philosophy, attitude on civil rights or temperament for a judicial position.

Attached is the Department's response to [REDACTED] June 16 memorandum concerning communication with Members of Congress. While I am pleased to furnish this information, I hope you will receive it with the understanding that officials of the Department of Justice have duties and responsibilities which suggest that their roles should be less "political" than other officials'. [REDACTED] has emphasized this point many times in stressing the need for a non-political Department of Justice.

b6
b7C

For this reason and other obvious reasons related to the Department's unique role in law enforcement and as lawyer for the Executive Branch, I would very much appreciate your keeping me or [REDACTED] informed of any use you may wish to make of this list or of any contacts you wish to orders for recognition of Senators on Tuesday have been consummated the Senate will immediately go into executive session.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — SENATE

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

ORDER FOR RECESS ON TUESDAY, MARCH 8, 1977, UNTIL 9 A.M. ON WEDNESDAY, MARCH 9, 1977

Mr. ROBERT C. BYRD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that when the Senate completes its business on Tuesday, it stand in recess until the hour of 9 a.m. on Wednesday.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. ROBERT C. BYRD. Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The second assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. CRANSTON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

ACTION AGENCY

Mr. CRANSTON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to consider the nomination of Mary King to be Deputy Director of the ACTION Agency.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The second assistant legislative clerk read the nomination of Mary Elizabeth King, of the District of Columbia, to be Deputy Director of the ACTION Agency.

Mr. CRANSTON. Mr. President, this is an outstanding nomination by President Carter of an outstanding woman to be the deputy chief of the ACTION Agency. Mary King has had great experience in volunteer activities in our country. She was an outstanding leader in the civil rights struggle in the South. She is a woman who can perform superbly. She was reported unanimously by the Committee on Human Resources today. There is great support there, as there will be great support in the Senate and in the country, for her in this role.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, the nomination is considered and confirmed.

Mr. CRANSTON. Mr. President, I move that the President be notified immediately of the confirmation of this nomination.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

PROGRAM

Mr. CRANSTON. Mr. President, the Senate will convene at 1 o'clock on Monday. Immediately after the two leaders or their designees have been recognized, the Senate will return to consideration of the nomination of Paul C. Warnke to be ambassador to the strategic arms limitations talks. There could be rollcalls of a procedural nature, but that is unlikely. There could be rollcalls on other matters that are cleared for action and come to the Senate floor during Monday.

RECESS TO MONDAY, MARCH 7, 1977, AT 1 P.M.

Mr. CRANSTON. Mr. President, if there be no further business to come before the Senate, I move, in accordance with the previous order, that the Senate stand in recess until the hour of 1 p.m. on Monday.

The motion was agreed to; and at 6:28 p.m., the Senate recessed in executive session until Monday, March 7, 1977, at 1 p.m.

3. Describe the general nature of your legal experience dividing it into periods with dates, if its nature has changed.
- a) If you practice law, describe your typical clients, or former clients, and mention the areas, if any, in which you have specialized.

My legal experience can be categorized as follows:

1951-1952. Clerk to federal appeals court judge. I researched and assisted in opinion writing.

1952-1953. Associate in Washington, D.C., law firm. Worked on corporate regulatory matters; also worked on the defense of a major criminal case involving important civil liberties issues, United States v. Owen Lattimore, drafting memoranda and pleadings.

1953-63. Raised family, worked on legal projects out of my home including research and editorial assistance for treatise on Robinson-Patman Act (1959-1961) and research on Federal Rules of Criminal Discovery (1961-1962).

1963-1968. During this period, I was working on a broad variety of research, study, and writing projects accommodating my schedule to that of my young children. These dealt in the main with the workings of the criminal justice system, and included coauthorship of a major study, Bail in the United States, and several articles on bail reform, participation in the drafting of the Bail Reform Act of 1966, membership on the D. C. Crime Commission, follow-up implementation of the Commission's recommendations for the Department of Justice, authorship of portions of reports of the National Crime Commission, the Committee on Civil Disorders, and the Violence Commission. During this period, I also wrote a book for OEO, Law and Poverty. In addition, I consulted for and eventually joined the Board of the Vera Institute of Justice in New York City where I participated in the development of experimental projects on noncriminal treatment of alcoholics, extended use of summons in lieu of bail, transcription of stationhouse interrogations, development of a methadone maintenance program for heroin addicts, a neighborhood conciliation forum for minor juvenile offenders, an employment diversion program for misdemeanants, a streamlined pre-sentence reporting system for overburdened courts, and a comprehensive analysis of the processing of felonies in the New York Courts.

My litigation experience during this period included representation of D. C. riot defendants in 1968 and brief writing for the Lawyers' Committee for Civil Rights in a 1965 perjury voting rights case ultimately won in the Supreme Court of Mississippi (Echoles v. State, 254 Miss. 133 (1965)).

1968-1970. During this time I was a staff attorney in the Law Reform Unit of the D.C. Neighborhood Legal Services, 416 5th Street, N.W. This involved representation of indigent clients in a variety of legal areas: divorce and child support, landlord-tenant, welfare and social security, Medicaid benefits, mental health commitments, juvenile offenses, school suspensions. I specialized in briefing and arguing appeals in the District of Columbia and United States Courts of Appeals. I processed administrative claims before local agencies such as the D.C. Human Resources Department (welfare and Medicaid claims) and the D.C. Public Schools (suspension cases). I acted as co-defense counsel in the jury trial of a juvenile accused of forcible rape before the Juvenile Court (the 16-year-old defendant was acquitted). While at NLSP, I also conducted studies of the D.C. Domestic Relations Branch and its effects on poor clients, availability of witness fees to indigents, problems in the operation of Medicaid in the District (culminating in the inclusion of emergency room hospital costs, theretofore excluded), the D.C. Administrative Procedure Act, and protective services for the elderly. I argued and/or briefed four successful test cases in the U.S. Court of Appeals. (Harris v. Harris (indigent divorce); Lee v. Habib (transcripts in civil actions); Sanders v. First National Realty (right to withhold rent for violation of implied warranty); Brown v. Fauntleroy (probable cause in juvenile cases)); and one before a three-judge federal district court (Jemison v. Robinson (durational requirement for mental treatment)). I also participated substantially in the writing of two Amicus Curiae Supreme Court briefs dealing with the requirements of a reasonable doubt standard and jury trials in juvenile cases.

1970. In June 1970, I assumed the co-directorship of the Ford Foundation Drug Abuse Research Project (with [REDACTED]). The six-month project surveyed the state of the art in drug abuse, research, treatment modalities, and drug education. It involved reading

vast amounts of literature, interviewing knowledgeable persons, reviewing other projects, and synthesizing a report and recommendations to the Ford Board of Trustees on future actions by the Foundation in the field. Our report, which was written collaboratively by [redacted] and me, was subsequently published in book form under the title Dealing in Drug Abuse. The published report also included papers we commissioned for the project and a chapter on drug education which I principally authored. The report culminated in the establishment of the Drug Abuse Council, funded by Ford and two other foundations. This association with the Ford Foundation led to my election in 1971 to the Board of Trustees, on which I served until my entry into government service in 1977. (From 1975-1977, I was a member of the Board's Executive Committee.) I continued to have an active involvement with the legal aspects of drug abuse during the next several years. I served for three years (1970-1973) as the Vice Chairman of the ABA Committee on Alcohol and Drug Abuse (Criminal Law Section), and as a consultant to the National Commission on Marijuana and Drug Abuse (1973). I also published four articles on legal facets of drug and alcohol abuse: "The Organized Bar and Drug Abuse," Brief/Case (San Francisco Bar Assoc.) January 1973; Panel Discussion: "Students and Drugs," Contemporary Drug Problems, Fall 1972; "The Right to Refuse Treatment," Addictions, Spring 1974; "Alcohol, Drugs and Criminal Responsibility," 63 Georgetown L.J. 69 (1974). During 1970-1973, I was also appointed by the United States Court of Appeals to represent indigent appellants in two drug possession cases. One involved a test case on the defense of involuntary addiction to the crime of heroin possession and was argued to the court en banc. The other involved the constitutionality of excluding eligibility for NARA because of a felony record. This appeal was mooted after the brief had been filed when the defendant rejected NARA treatment.

1971-1973. In 1971 I joined the Center for Law and Social Policy, a newly-formed public interest firm, supported by private foundation grants. I was co-counsel in a lawsuit to require the D.C. school system to provide education for handicapped students (Mills v. Board of Education). The suit was a joint effort with lawyers from the National Law Center of the National Legal Aid and Defender Association. The case was the first in the country to result in a judicial mandate to educate all children, regardless of handicap, and to provide due process hearings before children could be placed in special education classes or suspended for disciplinary reasons. It involved complex discovery, extensive pretrial hearings and negotiations, preparation of affidavits by expert witnesses, etc. Summary judgment was granted for plaintiffs and not appealed. Subsequent to the judgment, I continued to work on the case for five years, preparing plans for implementation, several motions to the court for compliance and for contempt, a petition for appointment of a special master, etc. I also worked with the D.C. school system to advise on hearing procedures, to orient new hearing examiners, and to settle allegations of noncompliance with regard to individual students. I also testified on the subject before the House Select Subcommittee on Education and Labor in hearings which culminated in the Education for All Handicapped Children Act of 1974.

During my year at the Center, I also worked on venue and standing motions in the Alaskan Pipeline environmental lawsuit, on a suit to invalidate accelerated tax depreciation regulations of the IRS, and on a suit to require certain safety labeling on poultry by the Secretary of Agriculture. In these cases, the plaintiffs were organizations such as the Environmental Defense Fund, the American Public Health Association, and Common Cause. I terminated my affiliation with the Center at the end of the year when I was elected a member of the Board of Trustees of The Ford Foundation, from which the Center received grant funds. Thereafter, for six months, I continued as a single public interest practitioner working without compensation on many of the same cases.

In June 1972, I joined the Council for the Mentally Impaired, a newly-formed public interest law firm, where I worked on the Mills case and other mental health cases until September when I took leave of absence to serve as Director of Policy and Issues in Sargent Shriver's Vice Presidential campaign. In January 1973, I returned to the council which had been renamed the Mental Health Law Project.

1973-1977. I litigated cases involving the legal rights of juveniles and of persons afflicted with mental illness and mental retardation. In some cases I represented individual patients, in other mental health organizations, e.g., National Mental Health Association, National Association of Retarded Citizens, American Psychological Association, American Orthopsychiatric Association, Child Welfare League. These were generally class actions involving lengthy discovery proceedings, class action motions, settlement negotiations, partial or total summary judgment motions, and, in some cases, protracted trials. I briefed and argued a number of appeals. I also wrote, in whole or in part, numerous amicus briefs in appellate courts and in the Supreme Court on behalf of interested organizations represented by the Project. In 1975 I became the Director of Litigation for the project with responsibility for supervising litigation by the other four staff attorneys. My work also included petitioning administrative agencies such as the Food and Drug Administration on the labeling of behavioral modification drugs used on institutional inmates, filing comments on administrative regulations affecting our client groups and appearing before Congressional committees.

During this period, I published several articles on legal problems of the mentally ill, the retarded and juveniles. The Project developed a two-volume treatise for PLI to which I contributed chapters on Rights to Education, Civil Rights of the Mentally Retarded, and an article on trial tactics in juvenile "right to treatment" cases which was also printed in the ABA Criminal Law Review. I also contributed a chapter to a book on the Mentally Retarded Citizen and the Law, published by the President's Committee on Mental Retardation, and one on problems of the retarded offender in the criminal justice system for the South Carolina Association of Retarded Citizens. An article on "Making Sense Out of the Rights of Youth" appeared in Human Rights and Child Welfare (it is also included in Areen, Cases and Materials on Family Law); and one for school psychologists which appeared in their professional magazine School Psychologists' Digest.

- b) Describe any work you have done in the human rights area, public interest law area, environmental, or consumer law area.

See answer to (a) above. I have also served on the American Civil Liberties Union litigation screening panel and acted as an ACLU affiliate lawyer in the 1971-1973 challenge to the D.C. Preventive Detention law discussed below (Dash v. Mitchell).

- c) Describe any public defender, legal aid, or legal services you may have performed.

As noted, I was a staff attorney in the Law Reform Unit of D.C. Neighborhood Legal Services from 1968-1970.

I have served as appointed counsel to indigent clients in a number of criminal appeals and as appointed amicus to the U.S. District Court in hearings on procedures for diagnostic sentencing reports under the Youth Correctional Act (see United States v. Tillman, discussed below).

Pursuant to informal requests of the Juvenile Court, from time to time, I have also acted to secure the release of juveniles from confinement into appropriate community facilities.

In 1975, I served with nine other attorneys on the national advisory committee to the Legal Services Corporation Board evaluating the legality of the 17 "backup" centers under Section 1006(a)(3) of the Corporation's enabling law. I participated in meetings with the [redacted], and with [redacted] [redacted] to formulate policy guidelines for the study. I was chairperson of task forces evaluating the Harvard Center for Law and Education and the Legal Action Support Center and personally prepared reports on their activities and a legal analysis as to their compliance with the Act.

- d) Describe any prosecutorial functions you may have performed.

None.

- f) Describe the aspects of your legal experience which you believe especially qualify you to be a judge on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

Firsthand experience in dealing with the problems of the poor, the handicapped, the underprivileged, those confined in institutions, juveniles, women in obtaining prompt and effective legal redress for their grievances.

Extensive experience in writing briefs and arguing in appellate forums; writing for publication to nonlegal as well as legal audiences.

Pg. 10

Experience in litigating complex and protracted class actions in the trial courts and presenting and examining witnesses.

Longtime involvement in the criminal justice field including both a research and reform perspective and the handling of criminal appeals and sentencing hearings.

Exposure, through the Department of Justice legislative program and participation in bar groups, to the systemic problems of overload in the federal courts and possible remedial approaches.

Intense involvement during the past two years with the process by which major legislation affecting justice issues is formulated, developed, changed and compromised and ultimately enacted into law. This has included legislation dealing with foreign intelligence, FBI charters, criminal code, court improvements, anti-trust law revisions, bankruptcy laws, civil rights, regulatory reform and privacy controls.

Membership on a variety of collegial bodies (e.g., D.C. Crime Commission, Ford Foundation Board, D.C. Bar Board of Governors, Juvenile Justice Standards Project, college and secondary school boards, Sloan Commission on Cable Communications, Council of American Law Institute, ABA Journal Board of Editors, Commission on Admissions and Grievances for U.S. Court of Appeals, Carnegie Council on Children) where vital substantive policy issues must be decided despite strong differences of opinion in an atmosphere of tolerance and continuing respect. I believe I have been able to stand firm in all of these groups for issues of conscience, at the same time helping to reach consensus where it could be achieved.

Experience with policy formulation and decisional processes inside and outside of government; intimate acquaintance with the problems and frustrations as well as the motivations and methods of those who make government policies and those whom they affect.

4. Court and/or administrative agency experience with respect to the last five years (or the last five years which you practiced law):

(Since the past two years have been spent on legislative affairs, I will answer for the prior five years, 1972-1977.)

pg. 11

- a) Did you appear in court or before administrative agencies regularly, occasionally or not at all? If the frequency of your appearance has varied during this period, describe each such variance, giving the dates thereof.

The large class action type of litigation in which the Mental Health Law Project was typically involved meant that while case preparation was going on constantly, court appearances were irregular, although usually highly concentrated. In the Morales trial in 1973, for example, actual trial continued daily for six weeks from 9:00-6:00.

- b) What percentage of these appearances was in
- 1) Federal courts
 - 2) State courts of record, or
 - 3) Before administrative agencies
 - 4) Before other courts, including quasi-judicial bodies.

90% Federal court; 10% D.C. Superior Court or D.C. Court of Appeals.

- c) What percentage of your litigation was
- 1) Civil
 - 2) Criminal

80% civil; 20% criminal.

- d) State the number of cases in trial courts of record you tried to verdict or judgement (rather than settled), indicating whether you were sole counsel, chief counsel, or associate counsel and describe the type of experience.

Tried to judgment:

[redacted] v. [redacted] (trial, Justice, J.) As co-counsel for litigating amici, I appeared in a six-week trial in Eastern District of Texas. I also personally participated in extensive on-site visits, depositions, arrangement of participant observer study, analysis of 15 volumes of answers to interrogatories, and pretrial hearings. I prepared the pretrial legal memoranda and opposition to motions for a three-judge court. Trial participation involved presentation of expert witnesses and cross-examination of approximately thirty expert and fact witnesses. Following trial, I personally prepared half of the 1,000 proposed findings of Plaintiffs and Amici from a 6,000-page trial transcript and the post-trial memorandum of law. I prepared motions for interim relief (granted, 364 F. Supp. 166) and opposition to a stay pending appeal. The final trial order appears at 383 F. Supp. 53 (E.D. Tex. 1974).

Pg. 12

b6

[redacted] v. [redacted] (summary judgment, [redacted]) As [redacted] in a class action to require the Department of Labor to enforce minimum wage laws for institutional patients' labor, I participated in exhaustion of administrative remedies and negotiations with the DOL, interrogatories, motions and legal memoranda supporting summary judgment, and formulation of final proposed order. The final order appears at 367 F. Supp. 808 (D.D.C. 1973).

[redacted] v. [redacted] (summary judgment, [redacted]) Class action to require St. Elizabeth's Hospital to place patients not in need of confinement in less restrictive community facilities. With co-counsel, I drafted the complaint, interrogatories, 120-page legal memorandum in support of summary judgment and proposed findings and conclusions of law. The final order appears at 405 F. Supp. 974 (D.D.C. 1975).

United States v. [redacted] (hearing, [redacted]) I was appointed by the District Court as lead counsel (of three) for special amici to explore the manner in which Youth Corrections Act, 18 U.S.C. §5010(e), diagnostic reports were prepared. We prepared interrogatories, located witnesses, drafted extensive legal memoranda on the purpose and meaning of the Act, conducted a two-day hearing in which expert witnesses were questioned, and drafted proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law. The final order appears at 374 F. Supp. 215 (D.D.C. 1974).

[redacted] v. [redacted] (motion to dismiss and summary judgment, 3-judge court, Hart, McKinnon, Parker, JJ.) This was a class action to enjoin operation of the 1970 D.C. preventive detention law; it involved drafting a complaint, pretrial motions for 3-judge court and memorandum opposing defendants' motion to dismiss and for summary judgment, including extensive constitutional analysis which I prepared and argued before a 3-judge court. The case was ultimately dismissed (2-1) on standing grounds without reaching merits. I acted as co-counsel with [redacted] as affiliate ACLU lawyers. 356 F. Supp. 1292 (D.D.C. 1972)

- e) State the number of cases in appellate courts in which you had significant litigative experience and describe the type of experience and your specific role.

Appellate experience 1972-1977:

[redacted] v. [redacted], 409 U.S. 808. Appeal was taken from the dismissal of Dash v. Mitchell (above) to the Supreme Court. A jurisdictional statement was prepared and an extraordinary application for bail made on behalf of one of the individuals preventively detained. The Supreme Court affirmed the lower court dismissal without argument although Justices Douglas and Brennan would have set down the case for argument. Jurisdictional statement and bail application were prepared jointly by [redacted] and me. (1972)

United States v. [redacted] The Solicitor General petitioned for certiorari from a holding of the United States Court of Appeals for D.C. that the 1970 preventive detention law applied only to D.C., not U.S. Code offenses. The appointed counsel for the defendant below sought assistance in preparing the opposition to the petition. I joined him as co-counsel, drafting the major share of the opposition. Certiorari was denied. (1972)

Alabama v. [redacted]. I prepared an amicus brief for Common Cause in the U.S. Supreme Court objecting to assertions in Government's brief involving issues of standing under Internal Revenue Code, judicial reviewability of Treasury actions and alleged statutory bars to relief presented by certain tax-related Code provisions. [redacted] was [redacted] (1971-1972)

[redacted] v. [redacted] As appointed counsel, I briefed and argued before the U.S. Court of Appeals an appeal from a denial of habeas corpus on the ground petitioner's probation was illegally revoked because he was not given sufficient notice of hearing and was denied effective assistance of counsel. The court remanded for a new hearing and the prosecution then dropped the case. 486 F.2d 1261 (D.C. Cir. 1973)

United States v. [redacted]. Following the 5-4 en banc rejection in 1973 (discussed below) of the appeal I had argued in the Court of Appeals, I sought rehearing (denied). I then prepared a petition for certiorari to the Supreme Court which was eventually denied (Justice Douglas dissenting). 414 U.S. 980 (1973). I subsequently represented [redacted] at his sentencing before Judge Sirica and obtained a reduction of the original sentence and his placement in a halfway house. (1973)

b6
b7c

Anonymous v. [redacted]. I prepared a brief seeking certiorari in the U.S. Supreme Court for Amici Curiae, American Psychiatric Association, American Psychological Association and other groups to overrule the dismissal of a Peace Corps employee who refused the government's demand for access to all his mental health records. As lead co-counsel, I wrote approximately one-half of the brief and supervised and edited the remainder. Certiorari was not granted. 420 U.S. 990 (1975).

[redacted] v. United States. I was lead counsel in preparing an Amicus Brief for the ACLU and National Prison Project in the Supreme Court urging reversal of a holding that judges in rejecting Youth Corrections Act treatment for eligible offenders must state their reasons. The Court ultimately held they need not do so. 418 U.S. 424 (1974) (related to United States v. Tillman discussed under (a) above).

District of Columbia v. [redacted]. I participated in writing a brief defending the judgment of a Superior Court judge requiring the District and Catholic Committee for Refugees to provide suitable rehabilitation facilities for a Korean orphan brought to the United States. The child had developed severe mental problems and after being returned to the Catholic Committee by adoptive parents was placed in St. Elizabeth's, an inappropriate facility to her needs. Court remanded with instructions to the District to explore other solutions. 359 A.2d 285 (D.C. Ct. App. 1976).

[redacted] v. [redacted]. Following the district court's decision in 1974 granting relief for plaintiffs, there was constant appellate activity. Motions for stay pending appeal were made to the Fifth Circuit and eventually to the Supreme Court. Plaintiffs and amici opposed these motions and they were denied. Motions to certify certain issues for immediate appeal were similarly filed, opposed, and denied. Extensive negotiations with the State of Texas followed through the fall and winter of 1975 pursuant to the Court's order. Appeals were finally processed to the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals and in 1976 oral argument was held before a panel of that court. For the entire appellate period, I was the sole counsel for the Amici organizations and prepared the briefs and motions and argued for Amici before the court. The Fifth Circuit ruled that a three-judge court should have heard the case, thus invalidating the trial court's judgment. (535 F.2d 864) Certiorari was sought from this ruling and I prepared the Amici motion (granted) and brief in the Supreme Court. The Court reversed the Fifth Circuit without argument (per curiam, 430 U.S. 322) and the case is again before the district court. On entering the government, I withdrew from the case. (1974-1977)

District of Columbia v. [REDACTED] Docket No. 10415 (D.C. Ct. App.). I represented Judge Alexander for the Washington Council of Lawyers opposing a writ of mandamus to require him to withdraw his grant of a juvenile's motion for an advisory jury. This involved the issue whether the 1970 D.C. Juvenile Code which abolished the right to jury in juvenile court cases also did away with judicial discretion to use an advisory jury. It was a case of first impression in the District. The case was ultimately decided against Judge Alexander in the D.C. Court of Appeals, without argument. I prepared the brief in its entirety. (1976)

b7c

United States v. [REDACTED] 563 F.2d 1121. I prepared an Amicus Brief for the American Association on Mental Deficiency, National Association for Retarded Citizens and National Coalition for Children's Justice in the Fourth Circuit on appeal from a judgment dismissing the United States as a plaintiff with standing to bring suit to protect the constitutional rights of persons confined in state institutions. The court affirmed dismissal. (1977)

[REDACTED] v. [REDACTED] 550 F.2d 1122. I prepared arguments on federal-state supremacy issues (pp. 36-48) for an Amicus brief in the Eighth Circuit on the right of a federal district court to order implementation of its original judgment requiring substantial expenditures for improvements in a mental retardation institution. The trial court's power to require the expenditure was upheld. (1977)

[REDACTED] v. [REDACTED] 431 U.S. 119. I prepared an Amicus brief for seven organizations in the Supreme Court in a case involving the due process rights of children "voluntarily" committed to mental institutions by their parents. The case was ultimately remanded because of changed Pennsylvania regulations but it has been reargued this term and a final decision is expected imminently. Drafting of the brief required sensitive negotiations among the seven organizations to arrive at a common point of view as well as extensive social science research to reinforce the legal principles. I drafted the brief with minor editorial assistance. (1976)

Penn Central v. New York. Although my work at the Department of Justice has not been in litigation, in the 1977-1978 term of the Supreme Court I did argue for the United States as Amicus in Penn Central Transportation Co. v. City of New York, 98 S. Ct. 2646 (1978). The case involved the issue whether a city may, as part of a comprehensive program to protect historic landmarks, place restrictions on their development regardless of zoning limitations without invoking a "taking" under the Fifth Amendment. The position of the City of New York and the government of the United States was upheld in a landmark opinion for historic preservation delivered by Justice Brennan.

- f) State the number of cases before administrative agencies in which you had significant litigative experience and describe the type of experience and your specific role.

The only major administrative action was a petition to the Food and Drug Administration concerning the labeling and permissible use of tranquilizing drugs on institutionalized retarded children. Although petitions for amended labeling were begun in 1974, a final answer was only received a few months ago, granting some of the requests and denying others. Various other proceedings listed herein have had administrative agency or regulatory aspects or phases.

I also participated in the formulation of comments on HEW administrative rules implementing Section 504 of the Vocational Rehabilitation Act dealing with federally supported services to handicapped individuals.

As noted elsewhere, I have substantial current responsibility with respect to the Administration's legislative proposals for regulatory reform.

5. Summarize your legal experience prior to the foregoing five-year period, indicating as to that period the nature of your practice using Paragraph 4 above as a guide to the type of information we are seeking.

6. Experience in litigation and before quasi-judicial bodies (include pre-trial motions practice, etc.)
- a) Describe at least five of the most significant litigated matters which you personally handled in appellate courts or before administrative agencies and give the citations, if the cases were reported. Give a capsule summary of the substance of each case, and a succinct statement of what you believe to be the particular significance of the case. Identify the party or parties whom you represented; describe in detail the nature of your participation in the litigation and the final disposition of the case. Also, state as to each case, the dates of the litigation, the name of the court(s) and the judge(s) by whom the case was heard and decided, and the individual name, address and telephone numbers of co-counsel and of counsel for each of the other parties.

[redacted] v. [redacted] 424 F.2d 806 (D.C. Cir. 1970). This appeal, which I argued and briefed in major part, established for the first time that indigent women in the District of Columbia could file for divorce in forma pauperis and not be required to pay court costs, including $100 fees for representation of absent spouses then required by the D.C. Domestic Relations Branch. It culminated years of attempts by welfare recipients and other indigent women to be able to terminate marriages where husbands had disappeared, did not contribute to support of wife or children, but where the abandoned wives were unable to enter into a legal marriage again. The plea of such women had been rejected by two D.C. Domestic Relations judges and by the D.C. Court of Appeals until the United States Court of Appeals in this case ruled (3-0) in their favor. Co-counsel were [redacted]

[redacted] v. [redacted] 442 F.2d 838 (D.C. Cir. 1971). This case appealed from the D.C. Juvenile Court and the D.C. Court of Appeals sought a writ of mandamus to compel the juvenile court to grant a probable cause hearing before a juvenile could be held for trial even though not detained. The U.S. Court of Appeals had held earlier in Cooley v. Stone, 414 F.2d 1213 (D.C. Cir. 1969), that the right to a probable cause hearing existed as to a juvenile held in custody pending trial. This case argued successfully that the Fourth Amendment also required such a hearing following arrest and that pre-release conditions applicable to released juveniles as well as the stigma of an impending trial required that the threshold test of probable cause be established. I wrote the brief and argued the case successfully. The panel consisted of Judges Fahey, Bazelon and Tamm.

United States v. [redacted] 486 F.2d 1139 (D.C. Cir. 1973). Although this case was lost 5-4 en banc in the United States Court of Appeals, it represented a critical resolution of an issue long before the courts. The question of whether the holding in Easter v. District of Columbia, 361 F.2d 50 (1966), that a person addicted to alcohol could not be prosecuted for public intoxication would be extended to possession of heroin by a person similarly addicted to that drug had been raised but not decided in the earlier en banc opinion in Watson v. United States, 439 F.2d 442 (1970). A proper vehicle to raise the question had been sought for some time and [redacted] prosecution provided a test case. [redacted] had acted as [redacted] in the court below but when argument was imminent he was serving as [redacted] and the Court ruled he could not continue to represent [redacted]. Although I had not been formally associated with the case, I was familiar with the issue and agreed on 48-hours' notice to present the argument to the en banc court. The court took 2-1/2 years to decide the issue, wrote a 120-page opinion, and split 5-4 against recognition of the defense. I petitioned unsuccessfully for rehearing and for certiorari.

[redacted] v. [redacted] 535 F.2d 864 (5th Cir. 1976), rev'd per curiam, 430 U.S. 322 (1977). The [redacted] case involved a class action brought against five Texas reformatories alleging widespread physical and psychological cruelty toward the juveniles confined therein. It sought adequate counselling, education, psychological services; it challenged classification testing and assignment practices, isolation and corporal punishments, restrictions on visiting and mail and, most important, it sought to require the creation of alternative community-based facilities for those juveniles who did not need secure confinement hundreds of miles away from their homes. There were also disturbing elements of racial segregation, extreme physical cruelty and forced labor in the case. After more than a year of discovery, a six-week trial ensued. I and one other lawyer from the Mental Health Law Project acted as "litigating amici" along with the Department of Justice, presenting several expert witnesses and cross-examining all seventy witnesses. At the end of the trial, Judge William Wayne Justice of the E.D. of Texas, granted extensive interim relief and issued a 70-page final order requiring the parties and amici to negotiate a plan for comprehensive relief on all counts. By the time the order was issued in 1974, one trial co-counsel had left the Project and I conducted the negotiations, briefed and argued the appeal for amici. The Fifth Circuit (Ainsworth, Roney and Morgan J.J.) ruled that the case required a three-judge court, a motion that the trial court had denied before trial. This issue was taken to the Supreme Court where I wrote the brief for Amici; the Court reversed the Fifth Circuit and sent the case back to the court below for resolution. Although the litigation is not yet terminated, two of the five institutions (the ones with the worst record for illegal practices) have been closed down; at the end of the trial, the leadership and hierarchy of the Texas Youth Council were completely overturned as a result of facts exposed at trial and there is reason to believe the lot of the young charges has improved substantially. The trial court's opinion constituted the first extensive application of the "right to treatment" doctrine to juvenile offenders and is widely cited in casebooks and in the ABA-IJA Juvenile Justice Standards.

[redacted] v. [redacted] Civil No. 927/70, D.D.C. October 19, 1970. This case, although ultimately resolved before a three-judge court (JJ. Gesell, Bazelon, and Wilkey), culminated a series of frustrating attempts in the appellate courts to secure judicial relief from the District government's practice of sending back to their state of origins patients involuntarily committed to St. Elizabeth's Hospital who had not been residents for at least a year. See D.C. Code §21-551. This practice was continuing even after the Supreme Court had ruled in [redacted] v. [redacted] 394 U.S. 618 (1969), that a durational residency requirement for welfare was unconstitutional. I had represented two elderly women patients at St. Elizabeth's in their attempts to resist being sent back to states where they no longer had any relatives or ties and in the face of medical opinion such transfer would deteriorate their conditions still further. After a hearing in district court where Judge Matthew McGuire declined to hear any fact or expert witnesses and dismissed the challenge summarily, an appeal was taken to the Court of Appeals and the issue extensively briefed. Before argument, both patients died and the case was mooted. A few months later, another client in the same predicament came to the Public Defender for help and we joined forces. This time we petitioned for a three-judge court and attacked the statute frontally. I and my co-counsel used my earlier brief as our main legal tool and were able to secure a temporary restraining order and later a permanent injunction against any enforcement of the residency requirement because of its unconstitutionality. I argued the constitutionality issue before the three-judge court and won. The District of Columbia first sought to appeal the ruling to the Supreme Court but later withdrew its appeal.

7. State any other information which may reflect adversely on you, your professional or personal career, or which you believe should be disclosed in connection with consideration of you for nomination for the United States Circuit Judge.

None

7. State all factors which you believe demonstrate that you possess a commitment to equal justice under law.

The major part of my legal career has been devoted to assuring that the poor, the physically and mentally handicapped, the underprivileged, the aged, and juveniles receive their legal rights. These activities are more fully detailed in other responses to this questionnaire. I currently co-chair the Equal Rights Committee in the Department of Justice which reviews all lawyer hiring and promotions (from GS-13) to insure that an adequate opportunity is given to all qualified applicants regardless of race, sex, or ethnic origin.

During the recent Congress I testified as the Administration witness and worked actively and extensively in support of passage of both the D.C. representation amendment and the extension of the Equal Rights Amendment. I also worked for amendments in federal rape laws to protect victims from assaults by spouses and to curtail potential harassment of prosecuting witnesses, and on legislation to insure coverage of pregnancy-related 8. State any additional factors which you believe qualify you for the position of a judge on the U.S. Circuit Court for the District of Columbia.

I believe that my experience in courtroom advocacy combined with wide and continuous participation in out-of-courtroom activities aimed at improving the way our justice system operates qualify me for service as an appellate judge. My work with the poor and disadvantaged, with juveniles, and with a broad spectrum of community groups has given me an empirical vantage point from which to view how different facets of our justice system work - or do not work - in practice rather than in theory. The opportunity to serve in the government the past two years and to participate first-hand in the formulation and passage of important legislation covering a broad range of subject matter - antitrust, civil rights, law enforcement, court operations, Indian land claims - has provided an extraordinary background for statutory interpretation in a jurisdiction as nationally-oriented as the District of Columbia. As an area resident for over twenty-five years and as an observer, and often participant, in the evolution of the Court's jurisdiction, I feel I have a special feeling for its delicate relationships with the local courts and law enforcement system.

I enjoy writing and have done a great deal of it; I like doing my own work - in fact, for the most part, have always done my own original research and drafting. I find it ever-absorbing to analyze legal issues, explore options and synthesize resolutions. I am used to working very hard which, I suppose, is a legacy of the economic imperative to work at outside jobs throughout college and law school to augment the scholarship funds I received. Over the years, the need to balance my life rationally between the demands of the profession and of five young children conditioned me to a flexible working regime that somehow, despite stresses and diversions, kept me going until the job was done. My representation of people to whom life has not been kind has sensitized me to the fact that our courts exist and claim the respect of our citizens to the extent that they do not lose touch with the problems and concerns of all the citizens who appear before them.

Since my practice has always been strongly in the public sector, I would like briefly to add my perspective on the private practice of law. Periodically,

I have touched down in the "bread and butter" subjects of the law, worked on securities regulation and the price discrimination laws, served on a blue ribbon commission dealing with communications policy, participated in tax and FDA and agricultural labeling cases. I am interested and challenged by these vital areas of the law; at present, I am working with the Administration on its legislative proposals for regulatory reform and antitrust revision. My continuing contacts with private practitioners, my view (and occasional assistance) from the sidelines as my husband built a large and widely respected law firm, my participation on bar boards and bar committees, my service as co-counsel in pro bono activities with a number of fine private practitioners have, I am confident, kept me reasonably current with the concerns and problems and capabilities of the private bar; my service in government has, if anything, enhanced my appreciation of the bar's contributions.

I hereby waive any privilege of confidentiality I may have concerning information which the Panel may desire to obtain from any source concerning my qualifications for judicial office. I specifically authorize all institutions, organizations, schools, physicians, hospitals, and individuals to make available to the Panel any information concerning me which the Panel may request.

DETAILS:

The following investigation was conducted by SA

b6
b7CAT SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA.PROFESSIONAL ASSOCIATE

On March 20, 1979, [REDACTED], National Center for Youth Law, 693 Mission Street, advised that he had known the Applicant approximately ten years and considered her to be one of the most skillful lawyers he had ever known.
He and the Applicant have worked together in [REDACTED] [REDACTED] and he considers the Applicant to be a very capable and bright individual whose abilities as a lawyer are excellent. He had no reason to question her integrity, loyalty, or character, and considered her to be a very unbiased and fair individual who would bring a great deal of expertise and fairness to the bench. In his opinion, the Applicant has always worked for equal justice under the law and would be a valuable addition to the judicial system.

b6

On March 20, 1979, [REDACTED]

b6 b7C[REDACTED] advised he first became acquainted with applicant, PATRICIA WALD, about fifteen years ago and subsequently [REDACTED][REDACTED] He was extremely pleased to hear she had been nominated to the United States Court of Appeals, a choice he would heartily agree with and recommend.[REDACTED] said he has never observed applicant in action in a courtroom, but from various legal discussions she has participated in, he feels she is professionally competent, with the qualities of honor, character, and commonsense so desirable in a jurist.
He advised she is even-tempered and free of any racialb6 or religious biases and would be committed to equal justice under the law.

Applicant possesses a fine moral character and an untarnished reputation, he said, and is the type who commands and deserves respect. [redacted] did not doubt applicant's loyalty or integrity, and gave her his highest grades insofar as personal standards and qualifications are concerned.

b6
b7c

On March 22, 1979, [redacted] advised she and applicant "PAT" WALD have been friends for over eight years. She said [redacted]

b6
b7c

[redacted] According to [redacted] applicant, as a member of the Ford Foundation's National Affairs Committee, had the opportunity to attend a number of discussions where such topics as legal systems, prison reform, drug abuse, were considered. From these discussions and through personal conversations, she has come to respect applicant's legal competence and integrity. It was her sincere belief the applicant has no biases against any class of citizens or racial or religious groups, and as a federal judge, would conduct herself honorably and competently.

[redacted] comments relative to applicant's character, reputation, and associates were most favorable, and she had absolutely no doubts of her complete loyalty. She concluded by stating applicant has "the best mind I know of," and recommended her without qualification as a judge for the United States Court of Appeals.

Superior Court of the District of Columbia

The following investigation was conducted by SA [redacted] on March 20, 1979:

b6
b7c

[redacted] Superior Court of the District of Columbia, Washington, D. C. (WDC), advised that based upon reputation only, he considers PATRICIA WALD to be an ideal candidate for a judgeship with the Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit. He stated she has a very fine reputation in the legal community, and is undoubtedly an individual who possesses high integrity and intelligence. [redacted] stated that in his opinion the applicant is doing a fine job as an Assistant Attorney General in the U. S. Department of Justice (USDJ), and suggested that she would likely possess a good judicial temperament should she be nominated to the Federal Bench. [redacted] stated he knows of nothing that would detract from the applicant's character, associates, reputation or loyalty to the Government, and concluded by recommending her for a judgeship with the Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit.

b6
b7c

[redacted] Superior Court of the District of Columbia, WDC, advised that she has been professionally acquainted with the applicant, PATRICIA WALD, for at least ten years. She described the applicant as being an ideal candidate for a judgeship with the Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit.

b6
b7c

[redacted] was of the opinion that even though the applicant has had limited trial experience, she nevertheless, would be well suited for a Federal Appellate Judgeship. She stated that the applicant has a reputation of having a keen legal mind, and an individual who is extremely hardworking.

[redacted] stated that on occasion, she and the applicant have traveled together throughout the United States when they were both attending professional functions dealing with juvenile crime. She stated that during these

b6

occasions, the applicant always handled herself extremely well, and was well regarded by her legal colleagues:

[redacted] indicated that the applicant's husband is a full partner in a WDC law firm and when asked if she thought this might create a conflict of interest for the applicant should she be given a Federal Judgeship, [redacted] stated this would not be the case. [redacted] was of the opinion that should any matter come before Ms. WALD if she were on the Federal Bench; and this matter dealt with something handled by her husband's law firm, there is no question that she would be very sensitive to the conflict of interest implications, and would excuse herself from the matter. [redacted] stated she knows of nothing that would detract from the applicant's character, associates, reputation or loyalty to the Government, and concluded by recommending her most highly for a judgeship with the Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit.

b6
b7c

[redacted] Superior Court of the District of Columbia, WDC, advised that she has been slightly acquainted with the applicant on a professional basis since the early 1970's. She stated that on one occasion, they both served on [redacted] and during this occasion, and another when Ms. WALD appeared before [redacted] Court, she has come to hold a very high opinion of the applicant. She stated she knows of nothing that would detract from Ms. WALD's character, associates, reputation or loyalty to the Government. [redacted] stated that the applicant would likely possess a keen judicial temperament, and based upon Ms. WALD's keen intellect and background, she would recommend her most highly for a Federal Appellate Judgeship.

b6
b7c

[redacted] Superior Court of the District of Columbia, WDC, advised that he is not socially or professionally acquainted with the applicant, PATRICIA WALD, however, he stated he is aware that she is an Assistant Attorney General at the USDJ, and is generally well regarded in the legal community of the greater WDC area.

107 Quincy Street
Chevy Chase, Maryland

The following investigation was conducted by SA [redacted] [redacted] on March 20, 1979:

b6
b7c

[redacted] advised that she has resided at the above address for the past six years. She continued that she is acquainted with PATRICIA WALD, who, together with her husband ROBERT and their [redacted] who is a high school student, reside [redacted] at 107 Quincy Street. [redacted] continued that the applicant and her husband have four other children in addition to [redacted] all of whom are away at college. She continued that her relationship with the applicant is primarily that of a neighbor although she does socialize with she and her husband approximately two or three times a year, primarily around the holiday season. She stated she considers the applicant to be an excellent neighbor who enjoys a very favorable reputation in the neighborhood. She continued she has never heard of any problems concerning either the applicant, her husband or any other member of the family. She further stated she knew nothing unfavorable concerning the applicant's character, associates, reputation or loyalty and further described her as an emotionally mature and stable individual who has always conducted herself in a proper manner at those social functions where she has been in attendance.

b6
b7c

She concluded that from her association with the applicant she would most favorably recommend her employment in any position involving trust and confidence with the government.

[redacted] advised that she and her family have lived at the above address since 1969. She continues that she is well acquainted with the applicant who was already residing in her home at 107 Quincy Street when she and her family moved in at the above address. She further stated that the applicant and her husband have two boys and three girls and stated she believes two of the children are away at law school and two others are attending some other institution of higher learning. She continued that although her relationship with the applicant is primarily that of a neighbor, she and her husband do socialize with the applicant and her husband usually during the holiday season. [redacted] continued that the entire WALD family are very well thought of in the neighborhood and stated she has never heard of any problems concerning any member of the family. She added that she feels that applicant is an emotionally mature and stable individual and added that she has never heard of any derogatory information concerning her character, associates, reputation or loyalty. She concluded that from her association with the applicant, she would highly recommend her employment in any position involving trust and confidence with the government.

b6
b7C

[redacted]
[redacted] advised that he has known the applicant as well as her husband and their five children for the past thirty years. [redacted] continued that when the applicant and her family moved from Virginia to their present address at 107 Quincy Street [redacted]

b6
b7C

[redacted] He further stated that he is also well acquainted with the applicant's children and stated they have [redacted]

[redacted] as well as [redacted] who is the only one still at home. [redacted] continued that he considers the entire WALD family to be excellent people and stated as a result of his employment for them they have favorably recommended him to numerous friends for whom he has also worked.

[redacted] stated he knew of no individual who he could more highly recommend for employment in a position of trust and confidence with the government than the applicant.

b6
b7C

[redacted] advised he has resided at the above address since 1962. He continued that the applicant and her husband and their children [redacted]

b6
b7C

[redacted] He stated although he does not enjoy an intimate social relationship with the WALDs, he considers them to be excellent neighbors as well as good friends. He stated he and his family have socialized with the applicant and her family on numerous occasions and commented that the applicant has always conducted herself in a very proper manner. He further stated that they are extremely well thought of in the community and added to the best of his knowledge neither the applicant nor any member of her family have ever been involved in any type of trouble. He continued that nothing of an unfavorable nature has ever come to his attention concerning the applicant's character, associates, reputation or loyalty and that from his many years of association with the applicant, would most favorably recommend her employment in any position involving trust and confidence with the government.

[redacted] advised she has resided at the above address for the past 23 years. She continued that the applicant and her family moved into their home across the street from her approximately three years after she moved into her home and have resided there up to the present time. She continued that she has watched the applicant's five children grow from infancy and probably knows them better than she does the applicant or her husband. She stated her association with the applicant has been primarily that of a neighbor and added she could not recall ever having attended a neighborhood social function where the applicant was in attendance. She continued that the entire WALD family are well regarded in the community and added she has never heard of any problems concerning any member of the family. She further advised that nothing of a derogatory nature has ever come to her attention concerning the character, associates, reputation or loyalty and concluded that from her association with the applicant she knew of nothing which in any way would preclude her occupying a position of trust with the government.

b6
b7C

[redacted] advised that he and his wife moved into their residence at the above address in January of 1959. He continued that the applicant and her husband, as well as their five children, were already residing across the street from him at that time. He continued that over the years he and his wife have developed a social as well as a neighborly relationship with the applicant and her family and considered them to be excellent neighbors as well as good friends. He further advised that the entire WALD family are well respected in the neighborhood and added that he has never heard of any problems concerning any member of the family. He further described them as a close knit group who for the most part keep to themselves. He further stated the applicant has always impressed him as an emotionally mature and stable individual and stated nothing of a derogatory nature concerning her character, associates, reputation or loyalty has ever come to his attention. He concluded that from his association with the applicant, he would have no hesitation in most favorably recommending her employment in any position involving trust and confidence with the government.

b6

[redacted] who was present during the foregoing interview, substantiated the information furnished by her husband. She stated she feels the applicant and her husband have done an excellent job in raising their five children and having four of them away at college at once. She further stated the applicant did not start work on a fulltime basis until [redacted] was in high school.

b6
b7c

She concluded that from her many years of close association with the applicant, she could think of no one she could more highly recommend for a position of trust and confidence with the government than the applicant.

The following investigation was conducted on March 22, 1979, by SA [REDACTED]

b6
b7C
b6
b7C

[REDACTED] advised that he met Mrs. WALD in Washington, D.C. (WDC), in approximately 1971. Since then he has become both professionally and socially familiar with her and regards her as an extremely competent, knowledgeable and intelligent individual. He believes her to be highly qualified for a position on the bench and feels that she will make an excellent judge. She possesses a good judicial temperament and is known for her objectivity. In regard to her writing and speaking abilities, she is very articulate and has always prepared excellent law briefs. [REDACTED] advised that she is happily married to ROBERT WALD, who she met in law school. She possesses a good sense of humor and is in good health. Her character, associates, reputation and loyalty are beyond reproach and [REDACTED] concluded by stating that he cannot think of anything derogatory concerning her and would highly recommend her for a position as a federal judge.

b6
b7C

[REDACTED] advised that he has been professionally acquainted with Mrs. WALD for approximately ten months and views her as a superb lawyer. He stated that she enjoys an outstanding reputation at the Harvard Law School for her complete objectivity and judicious personality. She is very knowledgeable of the law and possesses a brilliance and legal ability of the highest caliber. Commenting on her personal characteristics, [REDACTED] stated that she is morally upright, has a warm, relaxed personality, and still maintains a proper degree of professionalism. Her writing and speaking abilities are excellent. [REDACTED] concluded by stating that he gives his unqualified endorsement to her for an appointment as a federal judge.

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] advised that she met Mrs. WALD in 1964 [REDACTED]
[REDACTED] on which they were both serving. She described her as brilliant, a great technician, and one of the best attorneys she knows. She is very thoughtful and thorough in her work and possesses an even temperament and unbiased objectivity. On the social level, she is described as being delightful to work with, amiable, and of the highest moral character. [REDACTED] advised that Mrs. WALD has amazing stamina in spite of the long, difficult hours spent in legal litigation. She knows of no health problems or anything which would reflect unfavorably on her character. She is known by her associates as having a very strong personal commitment to the judicial system and is known for her integrity. [REDACTED] concluded by stating that she feels that Mrs. WALD is the "role model of the woman lawyer" and she would give her unqualified endorsement for a position on the bench.

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED], advised that he has known Mrs. WALD since they met socially in 1970. He views her as charming, thoughtful, sensitive, intelligent, and would make an excellent addition to the Federal court system. He further stated that Mrs. WALD possesses an ability to remain calm in situations of stress and maintains the objectivity and temperament necessary for such a position. He described her personality as being judicious and advised that he has never observed anything which would reflect unfavorably toward her character or professional integrity. [REDACTED] concluded by stating that he recommends her without reservation for a position as a Federal judge.

and controlled by the mover of such and the manager of the bill: Provided, That in the event the manager of the bill is in favor of any such amendment or motion, the time in opposition thereto shall be controlled by the minority leader or his designee: Provided further, That no amendment that is not germane to the provisions of the said bill shall be received.

Ordered further, That on the question of final passage of the said bill, debate shall be limited to 4 hours, to be equally divided and controlled, respectively, by the Senator from Michigan (Mr. Levin) and the Senator from Texas (Mr. Tower): Provided, That the said Senators, or either of them, may, from the time under their control on the passage of the said bill, allot additional time to any Senator during the consideration of any amendment, debatable motion, appeal, or point of order.

Ordered further, That the vote on final passage of the bill occur no later than 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, July 26, 1979.

Ordered further, That if action on the Reiche nomination has not been completed, the Senate return to executive session and resume consideration of the nomination.

ORDER OF PROCEDURE ON THURSDAY

Mr. ROBERT C. BYRD. Mr. President, I further ask unanimous consent that if action on the Reiche nomination has not been completed by 9 a.m. on Thursday morning, that the Senate go out of executive session at that time, if it is in executive session, and proceed to the Panama Canal legislation, and that it stay on that legislation until it is finished, until it completes that legislation except by unanimous consent it may go to something else that is cleared in the meantime; and that upon the disposition of that legislation, if the Reiche nomination has not been disposed of, that the Senate then resume executive session and resume the consideration of the Reiche nomination.

Mr. STEVENS. Mr. President, that is our understanding, and I have no objection. It is my understanding that if we are on the Reiche nomination it will be put aside on Thursday morning for the Panama Canal implementation legislation, and once we finish that no later than 6:30 p.m. we will resume the Reiche nomination, if that has been the pending business.

Mr. ROBERT C. BYRD. The Senator is correct.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

AUTHORITY FOR THE MAJORITY LEADER TO PLACE BEFORE THE SENATE H.R. 4394, HUD APPROPRIATIONS, 1980; H.R. 4580, DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA APPROPRIATIONS, 1980; AND H.R. 4393, TREASURY, POSTAL SERVICE APPROPRIATIONS, 1980

Mr. ROBERT C. BYRD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that upon the disposition of the two items, the Panama Canal implementing legislation and the Reiche nomination, that the majority leader be authorized, after consultation with the minority leader, to call up at any time the HUD appropriation bill, the District of Columbia appropriations bill, and the Treasury, Post Office appropriations bill, but not necessarily in that order.

Mr. STEVENS. Mr. President, there is no objection. I understand that two of those bills have been reported and the third is on its way downstairs now, so they should qualify.

Mr. ROBERT C. BYRD. I thank the distinguished acting Republican leader. The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

ORDER TO CONVENE AT 9 A.M., WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY, FRIDAY, AND 10 A.M. MONDAY, JULY 30, 1979

Mr. ROBERT C. BYRD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that when the Senate completes its business today it stand in recess until the hour of 9 a.m. tomorrow; that when the Senate completes its business tomorrow, it stand in recess until the hour of 9 a.m. on Thursday; that when the Senate completes its business on Thursday, it stand in recess until the hour of 9 a.m. on Friday, and that when the Senate convenes on Monday next it convene following a recess at the hour of 10 a.m.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. STEVENS. There is no objection to those convening times.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

ORDER FOR RECOGNITION OF SENATORS TALMADGE AND HATFIELD TOMORROW

Mr. ROBERT C. BYRD. Mr. President, as in legislation session, I ask unanimous consent that when the Senate comes in tomorrow, after the two leaders or their designees have been recognized under the standing order—I believe Mr. TALMADGE already has an order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator is correct.

Mr. ROBERT C. BYRD. I ask unanimous consent that Mr. HATFIELD be recognized for not to exceed 15 minutes and that both Mr. TALMADGE and Mr. HATFIELD may be recognized as in legislative session.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. ROBERT C. BYRD. Mr. President, on the disposition of the two orders for the recognition of Senators tomorrow, as in legislative session, the Senate would resume its consideration of the nomination of Mr. Reiche, would it not?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from West Virginia is correct.

ORDER FOR RECESS UNTIL 8:45 A.M. TOMORROW

Mr. ROBERT C. BYRD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that when the Senate completes its business today it stand in recess until the hour of 8:45 a.m. tomorrow.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

PROGRAM

Mr. ROBERT C. BYRD. Mr. President, the Senate will come in at 8:45 a.m. tomorrow.

After the two leaders or their designees have been recognized under the standing order, Messrs. TALMADGE and HATFIELD will be recognized, each for not to exceed 15 minutes, as in legislative session.

Upon the conclusion of those orders, the Senate will resume consideration of the nomination of Frank P. Reiche, to be a member of the Federal Election Commission, and I understand that there will be a good deal of debate on that matter on tomorrow.

RECESS TO 8:45 A.M. TOMORROW

Mr. ROBERT C. BYRD. Mr. President, if there be no further business to come before the Senate, I move, in accordance with the previous order, that the Senate stand in recess until the hour of 8:45 a.m. tomorrow.

The motion was agreed to; and at 6:33 p.m., the Senate recessed until tomorrow, Wednesday, July 25, 1979, at 8:45 a.m.
